Important Changes

New income tax treaties. The United States recently exchanged instruments of ratification for new income tax treaties with the Czech and Slovak Republics, Mexico, The Netherlands, and Russia. The United States also exchanged instruments of ratification for a new protocol with Barbados. Their effective dates are as follows:

Barbados. The provisions for taxes withheld on interest, dividends, and royalties are effective for amounts paid or credited after January 31, 1994. For other taxes, the provisions are effective for tax years beginning after 1993.

Czech Republic. The provisions for withholding tax at source are effective for amounts paid or credited after January 31, 1994. For other taxes, the treaty is effective for tax years beginning after 1992.

If you were eligible for treaty benefits in 1993 but did not claim them on your 1993 Form 1040NR, file an amended Form 1040NR. See Chapter 7 of Publication 519, U.S. Tax Guide for Aliens, for information on how to file an amended Form 1040NR.

Mexico. The provisions for taxes on interest, dividends, and royalties are effective for amounts paid or credited after 1993. The provisions for all other taxes are effective for tax years beginning after 1993.

Netherlands. The provisions for withholding tax at source are effective for payments made after 1993. The provisions for all other taxes are effective for tax years beginning after 1993. However, for the first 12 months the new treaty is in effect, an election may be made to have the entire old treaty apply if it results in greater relief from tax.

Russia. For taxes withheld at source on dividends, interest, and royalties, the provisions are effective for amounts paid after January 31, 1994. For other taxes, the treaty is effective for tax years beginning after 1993.

However, for the first tax year the new treaty is in effect, an election may be made to have the entire U.S.–U.S.S.R. income tax treaty apply if it results in greater relief from tax. Provisions of the U.S.–U.S.S.R. income tax treaty are discussed in this publication under Commonwealth of Independent States.

Slovak Republic. The provisions for withholding tax at source are effective for amounts paid or credited after January 31, 1994. For other taxes, the treaty is effective for tax years beginning after 1992.

If you were eligible for treaty benefits in 1993 but did not claim them on your 1993 Form 1040NR, file an amended Form 1040NR. See Chapter 7 of Publication 519, U.S. Tax Guide for Aliens, for information on how to file an amended Form 1040NR.

Important Reminders

Disclosure of a treaty-based position that reduces your tax. If you take the position that any U.S. tax is overruled or otherwise reduced by a U.S. treaty (a treaty-based position), you generally must disclose that position on your affected return.

U.S.–U.S.S.R. income tax treaty. The U.S.–U.S.S.R. income tax treaty remains in effect for the following members of the Commonwealth of Independent States: Armenia, Azerbaijan, Belarus, Georgia, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Moldova, Tajikistan, Turkmenistan, Ukraine, and Uzbekistan. That treaty will remain in effect until new treaties with these individual countries are negotiated and ratified. Provisions of the U.S.–U.S.S.R. income tax treaty are discussed in this publication under Commonwealth of Independent States.

Introduction

The United States (U.S.) has income tax treaties (conventions) with a number of foreign countries. Under these treaties, residents of foreign countries are taxed at a reduced rate, or are exempt from U.S. income taxes on certain items of income they receive from sources within the United States. These reduced rates and exemptions vary among countries and specific items of income.

This publication will tell you whether a tax treaty between the United States and a particular country offers a reduced rate of, or possibly a complete exemption from, U.S. income tax for residents of that particular country.

Tables in the back of this publication show the countries that have income tax treaties with the United States, the tax rates on different kinds of income, and the kinds of income that are exempt from tax.

You should use this publication only for quick reference. It is not a complete guide to all provisions of every income tax treaty. You can get complete information about treaty provisions from the taxing authority in the country from which you receive income or from the treaty itself. The text of the U.S.–Canada treaty can be found in Publication 597, Information on the United States–Canada Income Tax Treaty. The text of some of the other treaties may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, DC 20402 (also see the explanation of Table 3, at the back of this publication). Or, if you have specific questions about a treaty, you are welcome to get this information from most Internal Revenue Service offices or from the Internal Revenue Service, Attn: CP:IN:C:TPS, 950 L'Enfant Plaza South, S.W., Washington, DC 20024.

If the treaty with your country covers the payment of a particular kind of income, you must follow the provisions of that treaty. However, if the treaty does not cover a particular kind of income, or if there is no treaty between your country and the United States, you must pay tax on the income in the same way and at the same rates shown in the instructions for Form 1040NR. Also see Publication 519, U.S. Tax Guide for Aliens.

Tax treaties reduce the U.S. taxes of residents of foreign countries. With certain exceptions, they do not reduce the U.S. taxes of U.S. citizens or residents. U.S. citizens and residents are subject to U.S. income tax on their worldwide income. But, because treaty provisions generally are reciprocal (apply to both treaty countries), a U.S. citizen or resident who receives income from a treaty country may refer to the tables in this publication to see if a tax treaty might affect the tax to be paid to that foreign country.

Foreign taxing authorities sometimes require certification from the U.S. Government that an applicant filed an income tax return as a U.S. citizen or resident, as part of the proof of entitlement to the treaty benefits. For information on this, see Publication 686, Certification for Reduced Tax Rates in Tax Treaty Countries.

Sometimes the provisions in tax treaties conflict with the provisions in the U.S. tax law. When this happens, you should generally follow the provision with the later effective date. There are, however, exceptions to this general rule. If you need more information, contact the Internal Revenue Service, Attn: CP:IN:C:TPS, 950 L'Enfant Plaza South, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20024.

Many of the individual states of the United States tax the income of their residents. Therefore, you should consult the tax authorities of the state in which you live to find out if that state taxes the income of individuals and, if so, whether the tax applies to any of your income.

Disclosure of a treaty-based position that reduces your tax. If you take the position that any U.S. tax is overruled or otherwise reduced by a U.S. treaty (a treaty-based position), you generally must disclose that position on Form 8833, Treaty-Based Return Position Disclosure Under Section 6114 or 7701(b), and attach it to your return. If you are not required to file a return because of your treaty-based position, you must file a return anyway to report your position. The filing of Form 8833 does not apply to a reduced rate of withholding tax on noneffectively connected income, such as dividends, interest, rents or royalties, or to a reduced rate of tax on pay received for services performed as an employee, including pensions, annuities, and social security. For more information, get Publication 519, U.S. Tax Guide for Aliens.

If you fail to file Form 8833, you may have to pay a $1,000 penalty. Corporations are subject to a $10,000 penalty for each failure.

Tax Exemptions Provided by Treaties

In addition to the tables in the back of this publication, this publication contains discussions of the exemptions from tax and certain other effects of the tax treaties on the following types of income:

- 1) Certain pay for personal services performed as a nonresident alien,
- 2) Pay as a foreign professor or teacher who teaches or performs research in the United States for a limited time,
- 3) Amounts received from abroad for maintenance and studies by a foreign student or apprentice who is here for study or experience, and
- 4) Wages, salaries, and pensions received as a nonresident alien paid by a foreign government.

Personal Services Income

Pay for certain personal services performed in the United States is exempt from U.S. income tax if you are a resident (not necessarily a citizen) of one of the countries discussed below, if you are in the United States for a limited number of days in the tax year (in the case of the Czech Republic, Finland, Indonesia, Mexico, New Zealand, the Slovak Republic, and Spain in any consecutive 12-month period), and if you meet certain other conditions. For this purpose, the word “day” means a day during any part of which you are physically present in the United States.

Terms defined. Several terms appear in many of the discussions that follow. The exact meanings of the terms are determined by the particular tax treaty under discussion; thus, the meanings can vary from treaty to treaty. The definitions that follow are, therefore, general definitions that may not give the exact meaning intended by a particular treaty.

The terms fixed base and permanent establishment generally mean a fixed place of business, such as an office, a factory, a warehouse, or a mining site, through which an enterprise carries on its business.

The term borne by generally means having ultimate financial accounting responsibility for or providing the monetary resources for an expenditure or payment, even if another entity in another location actually made the expenditure or payment.

Australia

Income that residents of Australia receive for performing personal services as independent contractors or self-employed individuals (independent personal services) in the United States during the tax year is exempt from U.S. income tax if the residents:

- 1) Are not in the United States for more than 183 days during the tax year, and
- 2) Do not have a fixed base regularly available to them in the United States for the purpose of performing the services.

If they have a fixed base available in the United States, they are taxed on the income attributable to the fixed base.

Pay that residents of Australia receive for labor or personal services performed in the United States as employees (dependent personal services), including services as a director of a company, is exempt from U.S. income tax if:

- 1) The residents are in the United States for no more than 183 days during the tax year,
- 2) The pay is paid by or on behalf of an employer or company that is not a resident of the United States, and
- 3) The pay is not deductible in determining the taxable income of the trade or business of the employer (or company) in the United States.

These exemptions do not apply to public entertainers (such as theater, motion picture, radio, or television entertainers, musicians and athletes) from Australia who earn more than $10,000 in gross receipts, including reimbursed expenses, from their entertainment activities in the United States during the tax year.

Austria

Income that residents of Austria receive for labor or personal services (including practicing liberal professions and performing services as a director) performed in the United States is exempt from U.S. income tax if they are temporarily in the United States for no more than 183 days during the tax year and the income is not more than $3,000.

Income, regardless of amount, received by residents of Austria who are temporarily in the United States for no more than 183 days during the tax year is also exempt from U.S. income tax if it is received for labor or personal services performed as an employee of, or under contract with, a natural person who is a resident of Austria or an Austrian corporation, and if that person or corporation bears the burden of the compensation.

Barbados

Income that residents of Barbados receive for performing personal services as independent contractors or self-employed individuals (independent personal services) in the United States during the tax year is exempt from U.S. income tax if the residents:

- 1) Are not in the United States for more than 89 days during the tax year,
- 2) Earn net income for independent services provided to U.S. residents that is not more than $5,000 (there is no dollar limit if the contractors are not U.S. residents), and
- 3) Do not have a regular base available in the United States for performing the services.

If they have a regular base available in the United States but otherwise meet the conditions for exemption, they are taxed only on the income attributable to the regular base.

Income that residents of Barbados receive for personal services performed in the United States as employees (dependent personal services) is exempt from U.S. tax if the residents meet four requirements:

- 1) They are not in the United States for more than 183 days during the calendar year,
- 2) The income earned in the calendar year in the United States is not more than $5,000,
- 3) Their income is paid by or for an employer who is not a U.S. resident, and
- 4) The income is not borne by a permanent establishment or regular base of the employer in the United States.

Income of a Barbadian resident from employment as a member of the regular complement of a ship or aircraft operated in international traffic is exempt from U.S. tax.

These exemptions do not apply to Barbadian resident public entertainers (such as theater, motion picture, radio, or television artists, musicians, or athletes) who receive gross receipts of more than $250 per day or $4,000 in the tax year, not including reimbursed expenses, from their entertainment activities in the United States. However, the exemptions do apply regardless of these limits on gross receipts if the entertainer's visit to the United States is substantially supported by Barbadian public funds or if the entertainer's services are provided to a nonprofit organization.

Belgium

Income that residents of Belgium receive for performing personal services as independent contractors or self-employed individuals (independent personal services) in the United States during the tax year is exempt from U.S. income tax if the residents:

- 1) Are present in the United States less than 183 days during the tax year, and
- 2) Do not maintain a fixed base in the United States for a period or periods that total more than 182 days during the tax year.

If they do not meet condition (2), they are taxed on the income attributed to the base.

The exemption for independent personal services does not apply to individuals who are public entertainers (theater, motion picture, or television artists, musicians, or athletes), if they are in the United States for more than 90 days during the tax year or if their pay for services as public entertainers is more than $3,000.

Income that residents of Belgium receive for labor or personal services performed in the United States as employees (dependent personal services), including services as an officer of a corporation, is exempt from U.S. income tax if the residents meet three requirements:

- 1) They are present in the United States less than 183 days during the tax year,
- 2) They are employees of a resident of Belgium or of a permanent establishment in Belgium, and
- 3) Their income is not borne by a permanent establishment that the employer has in the United States.

Income for services performed by an individual as an employee aboard a ship or an aircraft registered in Belgium and operated by a resident of Belgium in international traffic is exempt from U.S. tax if the individual is a member of the regular complement of the ship or aircraft.

These exemptions do not apply to fees received by a resident of Belgium for services performed as a director of a U.S. corporation if the fees are treated as a distribution of profits and cannot be taken as a deduction by the corporation.

Canada

Income that residents of Canada receive for personal services as independent contractors or self-employed individuals (independent personal services) that they perform during the tax year in the United States (except as public entertainers) is exempt from U.S. tax regardless of length of presence in the United States or amount of the income, provided they do not have a fixed base regularly available to them in the United States for performing the services. If they have a fixed base available in the United States, they are taxed on the income attributable to the fixed base.

Income that residents of Canada receive for personal services performed as employees (dependent personal services) in the United States (except as public entertainers) is exempt from U.S. tax regardless of amount if:

- 1) The residents are present in the United States for no more than 183 days during the calendar year, and
- 2) The income is not borne by a U.S. resident employer or by a permanent establishment or fixed base of an employer in the United States.

If the Canadian resident is present in the United States for more than 183 days or the income is borne by a U.S. resident, permanent establishment, or fixed base, the income from dependent personal services is exempt from U.S. tax if it is not more than $10,000 for the year.

These exemptions do not apply to public entertainers (such as theater, motion picture, radio, or television artists, musicians, or athletes) from Canada who derive more than $15,000 in gross receipts, including reimbursed expenses, from their entertainment activities in the United States during the calendar year. However, the exemptions do apply, regardless of this $15,000 limit, to athletes participating in team sports in leagues with regularly scheduled games in both Canada and the United States.

Pay received by a resident of Canada for employment regularly done in more than one country on a ship, aircraft, motor vehicle, or train operated by a Canadian resident is exempt from U.S. tax.

For more information, see Publication 597, Information on the United States—Canada Income Tax Treaty.

China, People's Republic of

- 2) Do not have a fixed base regularly available in the United States for performing the services.

If they have a fixed base available in the United States, they are taxable on the income attributable to the fixed base.

Pay received by residents of the People's Republic of China for services performed as employees (dependent personal services) in the United States (except as athletes or public entertainers) is exempt from U.S. tax if:

- 1) The residents are not present in the United States for more than 183 days in the calendar year,
- 2) The pay is paid by or for an employer who is not a U.S. resident, and
- 3) The pay is not borne by a permanent establishment or fixed base that the employer has in the United States.

These exemptions do not apply to directors' fees for service on the board of directors of a U.S. corporation, nor, generally, to income received as a public entertainer (such as a theater, motion picture, radio, or television artist, musician, or athlete). However, income of athletes or public entertainers from China participating in a cultural exchange program agreed upon by the U.S. and Chinese governments is exempt from U.S. tax.

If they have a fixed base available in the United States, they are taxable on the income attributable to the fixed base.

Pay received by residents of Cyprus from services performed as employees (dependent personal services), including services as an officer of a corporation, is exempt from U.S. income tax if:

- 1) The residents are in the United States for less than 183 days during the tax year,
- 2) The pay is paid by or for an employer who is not a U.S. resident, and
- 3) The pay is not borne by a permanent establishment, fixed base, or trade or business that the employer has in the United States.

Pay received by a Cyprus resident for performing personal services as an employee and member of the regular complement of a ship or aircraft operated in international traffic by a resident of Cyprus is exempt from U.S. tax.

These exemptions do not apply to Cyprus resident public entertainers (theater, motion picture, radio, or television artists, musicians, or athletes) who receive gross receipts of more than $500 per day or $5,000 for the tax year, not including reimbursed expenses, from their entertainment activities in the United States.

Directors' fees received by residents of Cyprus for service on the board of directors of a U.S. corporation are exempt from U.S. income tax to the extent of a reasonable fixed amount payable to all directors for each day of attendance at directors' meetings held in the United States.

Czech Republic

Income that residents of the Czech Republic receive for performing personal services as independent contractors or self-employed individuals (independent personal services) in the United States is exempt from U.S. income tax if the residents:

- 1) Are present in the United States for no more than 183 days in any 12-month period, and

- 2) The income is paid by, or on behalf of, an employer who is not a U.S. resident, and
- 3) The income is not borne by a permanent establishment or a fixed base that the employer has in the United States.

These exemptions do not apply to income residents of the Czech Republic receive as public entertainers (such as theater, motion picture, radio, or television artists, or musicians) or sportsmen if their gross receipts, including reimbursed expenses, are more than $20,000 during the tax year. Regardless of these limits, income of Czech entertainers and sportsmen is exempt from U.S. income tax if their visit to the United States is substantially supported by public funds of the Czech Republic, its political subdivisions, or local authorities, or the visit is made pursuant to a specific arrangement between the United States and the Czech Republic.

These exemptions do not apply to directors' fees and similar payments received by a resident of the Czech Republic as a member of

- 2) They are employees of a resident of, or a permanent establishment in, Egypt,
- 3) Their income is not borne by a permanent establishment that the employer has in the United States, and
- 4) Their income is subject to Egyptian tax.

Pay received by a resident of Egypt who is an employee and member of the regular complement of a ship or an aircraft operated in international traffic by a resident of Egypt is exempt.

These exemptions do not apply to Egyptian resident public entertainers (theater, motion picture, radio, or television artists, musicians, or athletes), who earn income for services as public entertainers (both independent and dependent personal services) if the gross amount of the income is more than $400 for each day they are in the United States performing the services.

Explanation of Tables

The paragraphs below describe the tables that follow and provide additional information that may make the tables more useful to you.

This table lists the income tax rates on such income as interest, dividends, capital gains, rents, and royalties. The income code numbers shown in this table are the same as the income codes on Form 1042-S, Foreign Person's U.S. Source Income Subject to Withholding.

Interest. If you are a nonresident alien who receives interest that is not effectively connected with the conduct of a U.S. trade or business, you do not include the interest in income if it is paid on deposits with banks, on accounts or deposits with certain financial institutions, or on certain amounts held by insurance companies. These amounts are exempt from U.S. tax even though they are considered to be income from a U.S. source. Also exempt from U.S. tax (although considered from U.S. sources) is certain portfolio interest on obligations issued after July 18, 1984. See Publication 519, U.S. Tax Guide for Aliens, for more information.

Social security benefits. Half the U.S. social security benefit payments to nonresident aliens is subject to U.S. income tax at a rate of 30%, unless taxed at a lower rate or exempt by treaty. This results in a 15% effective tax rate on the total social security benefits received.

This table lists the different kinds of personal service income that may be fully or partly exempt from U.S. income tax. You must meet all of the treaty requirements before the item of income can be exempt from U.S. income tax. The income code numbers shown in this table are the same as the income codes on Form 1042-S, Foreign Person's U.S. Source Income Subject to Withholding.

Independent personal services. The term "independent personal services" generally means services you perform for your own account if you receive the income and bear the losses arising from those services. Examples of these services are those provided by physicians, lawyers, engineers, dentists, and accountants who perform personal services as sole proprietors or partners.

Dependent personal services. Dependent personal services usually are those you perform for someone else as an employee.

This table lists the countries that have tax treaties with the United States. The tax treaties are published in the Internal Revenue Bulletins

(I.R.B.) and the Cumulative Bulletins (C.B.), which contain official matters of the Internal Revenue Service. The column headed Citation shows the number of the I.R.B. or C.B. and the page on which a particular treaty may be found.

Regulations implementing some treaties were issued as Treasury Decisions (T.D.). Other treaties are explained by Treasury explanation. The fifth column lists the T.D. numbers and the I.R.B. or C.B. in which each T.D. or Treasury explanation is printed.

You can subscribe to the I.R.B. or buy volumes of the C.B. from the Government Printing Office or you are welcome to read them in most Internal Revenue Service offices. Many public libraries and business organizations subscribe to a commercial tax service that publishes the treaties and regulations or explanations. You may find it convenient to use those sources.

^a No U.S. tax is imposed on a dividend paid by a U.S. corporation that received at least 80% of its gross income from an active foreign business for the 3-year period before the dividend is declared.

^b The reduced rate applies to dividends paid by a subsidiary of a foreign parent corporation that has the required percentage of stock ownership. In some cases, the income of the subsidiary must meet certain requirements (e.g. a certain percentage of its total income must consist of income other than dividends and interest). For Italy, the reduced rate is 10% if the foreign corporation owns 10% to 50% of the voting stock (for a 12-month period) of the company paying the dividends.

^c The exemption or reduction in rate applies only if the recipient is subject to tax on this income in the country of residence. Otherwise, a 30% rate applies.

^d Exemption does not apply to U.S. Government (federal, state, or local) pensions and annuities; a 30% rate applies to these pensions and annuities. For this purpose, railroad retirement tier 2, dual, and supplemental benefits are not considered U.S. Government pensions or annuities. U.S. Government pensions paid to individuals who are both residents and nationals of Finland, India, Malta, Mexico, the Netherlands (new treaty), Russia, Spain, or the United Kingdom are exempt from U.S. tax.

^e The treaty exemption that applies to U.S. source capital gains includes capital gains under section 871(a)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code if they are received by a nonresident alien who is in the U.S. for no more than 183 days. (182 days for Belgium and Egypt.)

^f Includes alimony.

^g Under the treaty the exemption or reduction in rate does not apply if the recipient has a permanent establishment in the United States and the property giving rise to the income is effectively connected with this permanent establishment. For Australia, Barbados, Canada, China, Cyprus, the Czech Republic, Finland, France, Germany, Hungary, India, Indonesia, Italy, Jamaica, Malta, Mexico, the Netherlands (new treaty), New Zealand, Philippines, Russia, the Slovak Republic, Spain, Tunisia, and the United Kingdom, the exemption or reduction in rate also does not apply if the property producing the income is effectively connected with a fixed base in the United States from which the recipient performs independent personal services (professional services for royalties paid to a Philippines resident). Even with the treaty, if the income is not effectively connected with a trade or business in the United States by the recipient, the recipient will be considered as not having a permanent establishment in the United States under section 894(b), I.R.C.

^h Under the treaty the exemption or reduction in rate does not apply if the recipient is engaged in a trade or business in the United States through a permanent establishment that is in the United States. However, if the income is not effectively connected with a trade or business in the United States by the recipient, the recipient will be considered as not having a permanent establishment in the United States to apply the reduced treaty rate to that item of income.

ⁱ Bangladesh has not indicated that it wishes to assume the responsibilities or exercise the rights of the United States—Pakistan income tax treaty.

^j Exemption is not available when paid from a fund under an employees' pension or annuity plan, if contributions to it are deductible under U.S. tax laws in determining taxable income of the employer.

^k Exemption from or reduction in rate of tax does not apply to income of holding companies entitled to special tax benefits under the laws of Luxembourg.

^l Exemption does not apply to gains from the sale of real property. The United States has announced termination of the provisions of the United States - Netherlands treaty that apply to the Netherlands Antilles and Aruba, effective January 1, 1988. However, the provisions of Article VIII(1) of the treaty will continue to apply to certain interest payments made by a domestic corporation to an Antilles corporation.

^m The exemption applies only to interest on credits, loans, and other indebtedness connected with the financing of trade between the United States and the C.I.S. member. It does not include interest from the conduct of a general banking business.

ⁿ The exemption applies only to gains from the sale or other disposition of property acquired by gift or inheritance.

^o The exemption does not apply if the recipient was a resident of the United States when the pension was earned or when the annuity was purchased.

^p Annuities paid in return for other than the recipient's services are exempt.

^q Generally, if the property was owned by the Canadian resident on September 26, 1980, not as part of the business property of a permanent establishment or fixed base in the U.S., the taxable gain is limited to the appreciation after 1984. Capital gains on personal property not belonging to a permanent establishment or fixed base of the taxpayer in the U.S. are exempt.

^r Under the treaty, the reduced rate for royalties with respect to tangible personal property is 7%.

^s Does not include alimony; for Canada, alimony is exempt. For Indonesia, alimony is subject to a 30% rate.

^t Applies to half the social security payments received from the U.S. Government. The effective rate on the total social security payments received is half the rate shown in the table. These rates also apply to the social security equivalent portion of tier 1 railroad retirement benefits (income code 22) received from the U.S. The remainder of tier 1, all of tier 2, dual, and supplemental railroad retirement benefits (income code 23) are taxed as shown in the column of this table labeled "Pensions and Annuities."

^v Gains on the disposition of U.S. real property interests are considered effectively connected with a U.S. trade or business and thus are subject to graduated rates of tax rather than the flat percentage shown in this column.

^w Tax imposed on 70% of gross royalties for rentals of industrial, commercial, or scientific equipment.

^x The rate in column 6 applies to dividends paid by a regulated investment company (RIC) or a real estate investment trust (REIT). However, the reduced rate does not apply to dividends paid by a REIT if the beneficial owner of the dividends is an individual holding a 10% or greater interest (25% or greater interest for the Netherlands, Spain and Tunisia) in the REIT. In that case, a 30% rate applies.

^y Royalties not taxed at the 5% or 8% rate are taxed at a 10% rate, unless footnote (g) applies.

^z The exemption does not apply if the recipient of the gain is an individual who is present in the United States for more than 119 days during the year.

^{aa} The rate is 10% if the interest is paid on a loan granted by a bank or similar financial institution.

^{bb} This is the rate for royalties for the use of, or the right to use, industrial, commercial, and scientific equipment. The rate for royalties for information concerning industrial, commercial and scientific know-how is subject to the rate in column 12.

^{cc} The rate is 15% if the payor of royalties is the Federal, state, or local government or a public sector company.

^{dd} The exemption does not apply to cinematographic films, or works on film, tape, or other means of reproduction for use in radio or television broadcasting.

^{ee} U.S. social security benefits paid to individuals who are both residents and nationals of India, are exempt from tax if they are for services performed for the United States, its subdivisions, or local authorities.

^{ff} Exemption does not apply to an excess inclusion for a residual interest in a real estate mortgage investment conduit (REMIC).

^{gg} The rate in column 6 applies to dividends paid by a regulated investment company (RIC). Dividends paid by a real estate investment trust (REIT) are subject to a 30% rate.

^{hh} The exemption does not apply to gains from the sale of U.S. real property. However, for U.S. real property that was owned continuously since June 18, 1980, by the Netherlands resident, the taxable gain may be limited to the appreciation after 1984. For details, see Article 14(2) of the treaty.

ⁱⁱ The exemption does not apply if (1) the recipient was a U.S. resident during the 5-year period before the date of payment, (2) the amount was paid for employment performed in the United States, and (3) the amount is not a periodic payment, or is a lump-sum payment in lieu of a right to receive an annuity.

ⁱⁱⁱ See page 1 of this publication for the effective date of this treaty.

¹ Refers to income code numbers under which the income is reported on Forms 1042-S. Personal services must be performed by a nonresident alien individual who is a resident of the specified treaty country.

² Applies only if training or experience is received from a person other than alien's employer.

³ Annual compensation for services wherever performed.

⁴ Does not apply to compensation for research work primarily for private benefit.

⁵ Grant must be from a nonprofit organization that may be a U.S. or foreign resident. For Sweden, the organization must be located outside the United States. In many cases, the exemption also applies to amounts from either the U.S. or foreign government. In the case of the new treaty with the Netherlands, the exemption also applies if the amount is awarded under a technical assistance program entered into by the United States or Netherlands government, or its political subdivisions or local authorities.

⁶ Reimbursed expenses are not taken into account in figuring any maximum compensation to which the exemption applies. For Japan and Trinidad and Tobago, only reimbursed travel expenses are disregarded in figuring the maximum compensation.

⁷ Does not apply to fees of a foreign director of a U.S. corporation.

⁸ Does not apply to compensation for research work for other than the U.S. educational institution involved.

⁹ Applies to public entertainment in accordance with U.S. reservation rejecting exclusion contained in Art. X(4) of the Switzerland treaty.

¹⁰ Applies only to full-time student or trainee.

¹¹ Bangladesh has not indicated that it wishes to assume the responsibilities or exercise the rights of the United States—Pakistan income tax treaty.

¹² Does not apply to compensation paid to public entertainers (actors, artists, musicians, athletes, etc.). For Canadian or U.K. resident public entertainers, the exemption does not apply if the gross receipts (including reimbursements) are $15,000 or more in any year. For French resident public entertainers, the exemption does not apply if their gross receipts (including reimbursements) are more than $10,000 in any tax year.

¹³ Does not apply to compensation paid to public entertainers that is more than $100 a day.

¹⁴ Exemption applies only if the compensation is subject to tax in the country of residence.

¹⁵ The exemption does not apply if the employee's compensation is borne by a permanent establishment (or in some cases a fixed base) that the employer has in the United States.

¹⁶ The exemption also applies if the employer is a permanent establishment in the treaty country but is not a resident of the treaty country.

¹⁷ This exemption does not apply in certain cases if the employee is a substantial owner of that employer and the employer is engaged in certain defined activities.

¹⁸ The exemption is also extended to journalists and correspondents who are temporarily in the U.S. for periods not longer than 2 years and who receive compensation from abroad.

¹⁹ Also exempt are amounts of $10,000 or less received from U.S. sources to provide ordinary living expenses.

²⁰ A student or trainee may choose to be treated as a U.S. resident for tax purposes. If the choice is made, it may not be changed without the consent of the U.S. competent authority.

²¹ Does not apply to amounts received in excess of a reasonable fixed amount payable to all directors for attending meetings in the United States.
